Korie Robertson is known for her role on A&E’s hit reality television series Duck Dynasty. The mother of six is known for her domestic and international philanthropic work and serves on the board of Help One Now, an organization dedicated to ending extreme poverty and caring for orphans worldwide. Korie and her husband, Willie Robertson, CEO of Duck Commander®, are active advocates for adoption and foster care, having adopted two of their own children, and were honored for their work at the Congressional Coalition on Adoption Institute’s (CCAI) Angels in Adoption® gala in Washington, DC in 2013. They now serve on the CCAI board. Korie and Willie also founded the Drive Adoption fund in 2016, which was created to promote domestic and international adoption awareness and education. Korie oversees several business ventures including the local Louisiana-based retail store Duck & Dressing. She also serves as a spokesperson and advocate for women on behalf of the natural skincare line made for women of all ages, Naturmetic. Korie is a New York Times bestselling author whose writing credits include The Women of Duck Commander, Faith Commander: Living Five Values from the Parables of Jesus, The Duck Commander Family: How Faith, Family, and Ducks Built a Dynasty, Duck Commander Devotions for Kids, and Strong and Kind: Raising Kids of Character. Follow Korie online @bosshogswife or www.duckcommander.com. ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ Chrys Howard is the mother of Duck Dynasty's Korie Robertson. She holds a degree in elementary education and spent ten years teaching children with learning differences. After teaching, she joined the family-owned business, Howard Publishing, now known as Howard Books, where she served as senior editor and creative director. She has authored a number of books with more than 1,000,000 in print, including the best-selling Hugs for Daughters and Motivational for Moms. She co-authored The New York Times bestseller Miss Kay's Duck Commander Cookbook, Strong and Kind with daughter, Korie Robertson, the children's book, D is for Duck Calls with Kay Robertson, and Live Original Devotional with granddaughter, Sadie Robertson. Chrys has spent more than forty years working with Christian youth camps; speaking to women's groups; teaching Bible classes to children, teens, and young adults; and traveling overseas for mission efforts. She is married to John Howard, and has three grown children and fourteen adorable grandchildren. She is blessed to live in West Monroe, Louisiana next door to Korie and Willie and surrounded by other family members

I recently led the five session series based on five of Jesus' parables. The study participants found the content to be informative and enjoyable. Group members liked the way the Robertson family presented the material and felt that the lessons were self-contained enough that if one lesson was missed they could easily pick up with the next. The book works nicely as a companion with the DVD. I would definitely recommend participants have the book for preparation and watch the DVD during the session. Many of the stories of witness are recorded in both places but the book does contain additional scriptural support. The chapters in this book are not lengthy and fast reading which serves to encourage independent study.

I love duck dynasty and buying this was just a natural extension of that. I didn't expect it to be that congruent with scripture, but I am completely glad that it is. It's a rather short Bible study, but I've highlighted many things that have reference to my own personal life in this current day and age. You can often feel quite alone with unanswered retribution or prayers, and this book helps new believers or even non-believers crave more of the scripture and want to know more of God. Being a follower of Christ doesn't necessarily mean you'll be free of all pain and suffering. It is through wisdom that we learn to fulfill His will and become who we were meant to be, along with helping to lead others to Him. This is a great and short book to start this journey, and I'm glad I bought a copy!!

I read it to find out more about them. I have never seen a show or know much about what any of this whole family is about. After reading this book still don't but it gave me a bit more information. I loved reading it thought and found it to be funny and very good.

Ordered the DVD and study guide and I must have clicked the wrong button and got the Teen guide.

This is a blessing to be read. Reading the stories of redemption and faith are uplifting. I recommend this book to anyone searching for God.

Our bible study group really enjoyed the five week study using this book and the DVD. This was the first bible study I have lead. I purchased the complete church study package (kids, teens, adults), but later found that I could have just purchased the adult DVD and saved some money, as our church is basically all 55 or better folks and we didn't need the kids and teens parts (different DVD and book). I placed multiple order for books as the group grew in size before the study started.

This has been a really wonderful study and the way it was laid out it encouraged our class to get involved and shared alot with each other. I recommend it because our class got alot from it to help them in their everyday walk with Christ.

My son and 5 other guys did this study together. They are all in 9th grade. They seemed to enjoy it.
