Katherine Davidsen completed her BA (Hons.) in Indonesian at Monash University. She has since worked in Melbourne, Indonesia and Hanoi, teaching English ESL, Indonesian and Japanese. She is the author/editor of the revised Tuttle Concise Indonesian Dictionary and is currently working on her Masters in Applied Linguistics at the University of Southern Queensland.

Gave this to my son before his trip to Indo. It arrived quickly and he said that it came in very handy as he was injured just after arriving and couldn't surf the whole month.

A good book if you are going overseas for a short time and need help surviving. It has most of the basic words and phrases. When we were in Indonesia, I didn't use it as much as I thought I would simply because I had other means of language help. It's the perfect size to keep in your purse and hopefully get you out of jam! The most important word to know is "maaf" which means "sorry". :)

Is what it is. Admittedly, you may want to look at Apps first.

This is a great size for traveling and very concise. Great purchase.

This was much smaller than I thought it would be, but that was because I didn't read the dimensions carefully. It is the perfect size to carry around and is super easy to understand. There are pages in the front that explain the different abbreviations and symbols. Great value for the price!

Great size for traveling but font size is a little small.

very useful book for me to communication with my new helper who knows very little english. When she need to communicate with me, she will look for the bahasa words with the english word beside, and vice versa when I want to communicate with her. I find it is easier than using dictionary.

The "Tuttle Pocket Indonesian Dictionary" is the perfect travel assistant. This 15,000 word dictionary is broad in coverage yet concise, small and therefore very easy to carry. The book is well bound and written on excellent paper stock to withstand rough treatment and challenging travel conditions. I highly recommend it to travellers as well as students.
